TIGER MAGAZINE

Autumn—Winter 2011-2012

The Dutch photographer Wyne Veen, on page 2 shares with Tiger her personal interpretation of The Green Hornet. Rediscover the fascinating life of George Sand, on page 10 a heroine from the XIX Century which history has not treated fairly. We chat with the British Felix Barrett, on page 12 about his peculiar theatre company, Punchdrunk. Restless art creator, Yayoi Kusama, on page 18 reveals us why she is considered the polka dot princess of the art world. We visit the New York based Chelsea Hotel, on page 24 reliving the stories that happened within its distinctive brick walls. The designer duo Meadham Kirchhoff, on page 32 explain why their work is not only limited to designing clothes. The Spanish critic and poet Alex Susanna speaks with the photographer Antonio Girbés, on page 38 surrounded by the 54th Edition of the Venice Biennale Film Festival. We travel to North London to meet the creator of the dreamlike atmosphere of the images of Tim Walker, the set designer Rhea Thierstein, on page 42. The Polish artist Goshka Macuga, on page 48 shows us her work and talks about his particular approach to the world of art. In the City of Light we meet Hervé Van der Straeten, on page 54 the jewelry and furniture designer from the old school, high quality hand crafted work. The founder of the beauty brand Found, Lancelôt Cosson, on page 58 reveals the magical formula of their products.
