

REGULARS

- 04 Previews
Politics on a shoestring, 3D-printed hearts and a Soane house reborn
- 18 Profile
Kristina Walsh designs bespoke prosthetics for performers .
- 20 Inspiration
Hew Locke on rituals and royalty
- 22 Letter from America
High-tech magic in Kansas City
- 24 Obituary
Philip Smith pushed the boundaries of bookbinding
- 72 Reviews
Crafts' critics put McQueen and Ponti through their paces, while exploring where the mind ends and the brain begins
- 96 Thinking Aloud
Tanya Harrod reappraises John Ruskin

FEATURES

- 32 The new frontier
Four designers push digital materials into uncharted territory
- 44 Objects in dialogue
Ukuleles, ceramics and photographs come together in this new series on collectors
- 52 Made in Berlin
Kirsty Bell finds the threads between art, craft and place
- 60 Drag craft
Alice Morby meets the makers at the heart of the raucous East London scene
- 66 Why does craft matter?
Curator Hugo Macdonald lays down a challenge

'There are larger possibilities for disabled people – you don't have to be satisfied with what everyone gives you.'

PROSTHETICS DESIGNER KRISTINA WALSH, p.18